Fall 2016 the Bureau of Land Management and U.S. Forest Service in cooperation with Colorado Parks and Wildlife want to hear your views about the Browns Canyon National Monument. By participating in the 2 hour session you will help increase understanding about how people interact with the area, what is meaningful about it, and its role in the way people live, work, and play.

Your input will form a foundation for considering the monument in context of the landscape and communities that it resides for the upcoming land-use planning process. This effort will be an opportunity to broadly hear what people think is important, valued, storied, or any emerging concerns.
